

EVANS-MCAULEY WEDDING IS SOLEMNIZED IN BRIDE'S HOME

One of the most attractive of the summer weddings was that of Miss Virginia Elizabeth Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lewis Evans of Lincoln avenue, and John Raymond McCauley, son of David McCauley, Sr., of Baltimore, solemnized Saturday evening in the home of the bride in Lincoln avenue. Sixty guests attended. At a tea given Friday afternoon by the First Methodist Episcopal church, officiated, using the beautiful ring service. As the bride party entered the library where the service was performed, before an effective background of palms and ferns, the bride's wedding march was played by Elmer Kline Hamilton, a cousin of the bride. During the ceremony, "Whispering Winds" was softly rendered. The bride who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in whiteorgetta crepe with pearl trimming and carried a shower bouquet of roses and valley lilies. Her veil of tulle was held in place with orange blossoms. The matron of honor, Mrs. Clarence H. McFarland, a sister of the bride, wore a white lace gown and carried red roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Bertha Powell and Miss Sarah Margaret Hamilton, were charmingly gowned, the former appearing in pink tulle built over gold cloth and the latter in yellow charmeuse. Both carried arm bouquets of yellow roses. David McCauley, a brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Following the ceremony an elaborately appointed wedding dinner was served. Covers for fourteen were laid at the bridal table. A color scheme of pink and white was beautifully carried out, with a low mound of pink sweet peas forming the dairy centerpiece. At either end of the table was a silver candelabrum, capped with pink shade. The place cards were embellished with miniature brides, while the favors were small baskets filled with candy and nuts. The remainder of the guests were served from small tables in the parlor and library. Each was centered with a candlestick adorned with a pink shade.

The bride is one of the best known young women of Connelville and is a popular member of the younger social set. Mr. McCauley is employed by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad and is also widely and favorably known. Displayed in a room on the second floor was a large array of handsome and useful wedding gifts, including silver, linens and cut glass. Accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Coster of Sparta, Pa., who motored here for the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. McCauley left Sunday morning for a honeymoon trip to Baltimore, Philadelphia, Washington, New York, Atlantic City, Richmond, Va., and on through the south to Sparta, Fla. Out of town guests were David McCauley, Sr., of Baltimore, David McCauley of New York City, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Coster of Sparta, Pa., Mrs. Alice Connel, Mrs. Carrie Hamilton and son, Elmer Kline, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cornell and Miss Sarah Margaret Hamilton, all of McKeesport, and Miss Edith Bengel and Mrs. Nettie Connel and son, Harry, of Pittsburg.

A most delightful and enjoyable affair was given at the Pittsburg Athletic club on Saturday evening by the members of the American Window Glass company, in honor of their nephew, Corporal Byron S. Porter of Connelville, lately arrived from overseas. The event was ushered in by an afternoon automobile ride through the residential and suburban districts of the city and country, after which the party repaired to one of the fine dining rooms of the Athletic club, which was profusely decorated with flags and flowers and where an elaborate eight-course dinner was served. During the dinner an excellent vocal and instrumental music. At the close of the banquet, sport talks were made by the guests, and the event ended at 10 o'clock. Those present were the host, C. W. ONLY ABOUT ONE MONTH

Only about one month to school opening time, and the busy mothers are already making plans for school togethery, so are the live merchants already making plans. Our stores are already receiving shipments of early autumn raiment. Do not get the idea that we are offering you winter goods—they are reasonable late summer and early autumn goods. Then we have some odds and ends in very desirable goods in misses' and children's wear, suitable for early school purposes, that we are closing out at very decided bargains. Our managers are in the markets buying now; our purchasing agents have been buying for the last three months, and daily we are receiving shipments of portions of goods they contracted for. If there isn't anything in the closing out lines that will answer your purpose, there will be surely in the new lines coming in. This applies to boys' and girls' school outfits particularly, but it is not confined entirely to those lines. There are also very choice things in women's wear coming in—very choice goods in every line—shoes, dry goods, made-up suits, dresses, shirt waists, skirts, general lines at popular prices in the newest styles. We believe we have just what you want.

Union Picnic a Success.
One of the nicest picnics in the history of the Methodist Sunday school was that at Wesley Chapel on Saturday when they joined with the Wesley Chapel Sunday school in their annual outing. Persons with cars were very liberal with them. Swings had been erected, games were played and concessions carried on. Ice cream was sold on the grounds and coffee was furnished free during the day. The committees appointed worked diligently and everything during the day went off as scheduled.

Preaches at M. E. Church.
Rev. William Hamilton occupied the pulpit at the Methodist Episcopal church yesterday in the absence of Rev. N. L. Brown, who is away on his vacation. For the first time in the history of the church in Scottsdale (unless union services were held) there was no church on Sunday evening.

NOW IS THE TIME

To Build Up Permanently Nature At Its Best As An Aid.

If you who are weak, nervous and run-down from overwork, worry or any other cause would only realize that the summer months is the time to build up strength and vigor there would not be so many collapses and wasting of time during the winter.

The plan to follow is simple—plenty of rest and good wholesome food along with a strength-giving, body-building tonic. Chaco-Vin with its Iron, Manganese, Hypophosphites, Nux and other strength-making ingredients, is the tonic we suggest.
If you follow this plan carefully you will notice a wonderful improvement in two weeks time. But don't give up too soon.

WOULD PROHIBIT SENDING ORDINARY MAIL BY AIRPLANE

Matter Marked "Not by Airplane" to Be Carried Only By Railroad.

VALUABLE LETTERS LOST

Mail of New York Bank Transferred From Train to Plane Without Authority. It is claimed; Chairman Steenerson seeks a remedy.

WASHINGTON Aug 4.—A bill to prohibit mail being carried by airplane when marked "not by airplane" has been introduced by Chairman Steenerson of the Postoffice and Post Roads committee. It is the result of the loss of valuable letters of the Harrison National bank, New York, thought to have been destroyed when a plane burned. The letters it is said, were transferred to the plane from a train without authority of the Postmaster General Burleson. Steenerson gave no definite information as to what became of the letters when he recently wrote Mr. Steenerson in response to an inquiry. Explaining the bill introduced today Mr. Steenerson said:

As disclosed by the answer to a recent resolution of inquiry Congress has appropriated funds for experimental aeroplane service, passed an act authorizing the Postmaster General in his discretion to prescribe a rate of postage at not exceeding 2 cents an ounce which authority he exercised by prescribing six cents to be prepaid by aero mail stamps, or ordinary postage stamps but in case the latter should be used the mail should be marked by aeroplane. The mail with extra postage not being sufficient to make a load, the Postmaster General says to avoid using a special sufficient mail without the extra postage was put on to balance the machine.

It appeared that the practice of putting on pacing ordinary mail on aeroplanes was in direct violation of his own executive order prescribing six cents per ounce aeroplane rate and although he announced that he had discretion to carry any kind of mail by aeroplane he evidently doubted the legality of this for within a few days he issued another order fixing the aeroplane postage at two cents per ounce—the same as ordinary mail, and thus abolishing the extra charge entirely. This makes it impossible for the sender of mail to prevent its being exposed to the dangers incident to air service.

NOTES of the DIAMOND

Jack Smith is playing great ball these days.

Alexander has added to the Cubs chances by getting into shape.

Connie Mack claims not to be the least discouraged with the Athletics.

Bobby Veach of the Detroit Tigers continues to club all kinds of pitching.

Bill Arz, recently released as umpire in the Texas league caught on in the Eastern.

The Brooklyn club left Robt Marquardt to Cincinnati to take treatment for his cracked leg.

What became of all this talk about the Red Sox repeating in the world's series next October?

Harry Davis is still acting as first lieutenant for Connie Mack and making a good job of it.

Otto Knabe will probably start on a scouting tour soon. The Cubs have their eyes on several youngsters in the minors.

Pitcher Carl Williams, just out of the army has rejoined the Waterbury club thus giving Jack Flynn a staff of five twirlers.

The wonderful fielding for Chicago is what is counting for the White Sox these days. Joe Jackson's work is nothing short of remarkable.

The collapse of the Brooklyn pitching staff is one of the upsets of the season for the Dodgers were supposed to have pitching above all else.

All things considered the Mobile team has been making a fine showing and interest and attendance in the Gulf City is reported at a higher stage than for years.

Boston fans have been riding the Red Sox pretty hard, which is something new in Boston. Recently Jack Barry even had to take hoots from the crabbing Hub fan.

Having secured the services of Al Wilkland for his outfield Manager Miller Huggins of the Yankees released Outfielder Bill Lunnar to the Red Sox, at the waiver price.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"SOME BRIDE"—The latest Metro comedy drama, starring Viola Dana, the winsome little star, is being shown today. The play tells of a young bride, who though she loves her husband, cannot refrain from flirting with other men. Nature has endowed her with "cant" behavior eyes, which ensnare all men, a fact not at all to the liking of Henry, her husband. The young couple are stopping at a fashionable Californian resort, and one morning, while on the beach Henry sees Patricia, though in scanty bathing suit on a raft in the bay with Tom Ruggler, a handsome young athlete. Henry is not the only observer for the two bathers are the sole topic of conversation to the gossip on the hotel veranda. While attending an old-fashioned barn dance where losing games are in vogue, Henry sees Patricia kissing Tom. A stormy scene ensues and he accuses her of being in love with Tom and tells her that he intends to get a divorce. Patricia replies that nothing would please her any better. He is on the verge of carrying out his threat when Patricia's wit comes to her rescue and by a strategic move she regains both his love and his confidence. Irving Cummings, the well known screen star, portrays the role of Henry in a very capable manner. Other members of the cast are Ruth Sinclair, Ethel Mason and Florence Carpenter. Tomorrow "Corone Griffith" will be seen in a pleasing production.

THE SOISSON.

"THE MIN'S OF HELL"—William Desmond's largest production is the principle feature today. The picture is flat gold pure and unalloyed. The passion for possession and the lure of untold riches drive men mad at the sight of this Alaskan treasure and the frozen wastes of this weird region are strewn with the bones of men who have sought vainly for the precious ore have eaten snow and died. It was in quest of the gold that Dan Burke went over the Tili-munt Divide battled the terrific storms and treacherous snowdrifts and would have died in the wilderness of ice had it not been for old man Chaudiere and his beautiful daughter Aline who rescued him. Dan fell in love with Aline heard her story and went back to the little stampede town and beat up Hibbing who had tried to cheat Chaudiere of his cache of "flat gold" and had insulted Aline. Desmond does splendid work in this production which is notable for its graphically realistic Alaskan scenes and big dramatic action. Other members of the cast are Vivian Rich, Charles French, Jack Richardson and Frank Lanning. A selected comedy is also being shown. Wednesday and Thursday Henry Walthall will be presented in "Modern Husbands," a powerful drama.

NOTED PASTOR LAUDS TANLAC

That the stomach is the fountain head of most diseases was again proven in the case of Rev. Jonah Smith, Wilkes-Barre, who after suffering six years with kidney trouble found absolute relief through taking Tanlac. He said:

"Severe pains in the back and across the kidneys used to hold me almost right before I had finished a half bottle of Tanlac. I could feel the beneficial effects, while today kidney trouble is a thing of the past. Tanlac got my stomach working right and kidney trouble soon left."

"People suffering from nervous debility, sleeplessness, lost vitality, poor appetites, headaches, indigestion, weakness, stomach liver and kidney troubles should take Tanlac, the 'Master Medicine of Millions' sold here by Beighley's Pharmacy, Connellsville Drug Store and Fred Harmening's Pharmacy—Ad."

SCHOOL GIRL TELLS OTHERS

How They Can Find Relief From Periodic Sufferings.

Nashua, N. H.—"I am nineteen years old and every month for two years, I had such pains that I would often faint and have to leave school. I had such pain I did not know what to do with myself and tried so many remedies that were of no use. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and decided to try it, and that is how I found relief from pain and feel so much better than I used to. When I hear of any girl suffering as I did I tell them how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me."—DELINA MARTIN, 29 Bowers St., Nashua, N. H.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs; therefore is a perfectly safe remedy to give your daughter, who suffers from such painful periods as did Miss Martin.

The reason so many girls write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice, is because from their 40 years experience they have a store of knowledge which is invariably helpful.

APPEALS TO AMERICA TO ACT QUICKLY IF LIVES OF SOME SIX MILLION JEWS ARE TO BE SAVED

Louis Marshall, Back From Abroad, Tells of Terrible Conditions There.

SEEK $35,000,000 HERE

Campaign Must Be Held Quickly, Mr. Marshall Declares, as Millions Will Not Survive to Enjoy Its Benefits; Delay Means Loss of Many.

Special to The Courier.
NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—"Let me say to you candidly and in all solemnity that Jewry abroad is tottering; on the brink. The lives of some six million people are at stake. I say advisedly that never in the history of our people whose tribulations have been notorious throughout the ages, has there been such a welter of misery, poverty and suffering. Horrors and both physical and spiritual torture that would sound unbelievable if narrated are the common lot of millions of Jewish people in the old world."

"In what is almost its last death throes, European Jewry turns in frantic appeal to the three and one-half million Jews of America to give of their plenty the small measure of aid which shall stay the destruction threatening that large portion of the race which dwells across the sea."

"This, in brief, is the urgent appeal which Louis Marshall, chairman of the American Jewish Relief committee, who has just returned from his work in Paris as Jewish representative at the peace conference, has dispatched to A. Leo Weil, A. J. Stein and L. W. Frank of Pittsburgh, Jacob D. Lit, Louis Gerstley and Samuel Pels of Philadelphia, David Kaufman of Harrisburg and other members of the Pennsylvania State Jewish Relief committee. The local men are engaged in the organization of the campaign to be held this fall to raise this state's share of the $35,000,000 fund being sought for Jewish relief work abroad."

"It is absolutely necessary," Mr. Marshall says, "that our campaign be held quickly. The civil, political and religious rights of the Jews in Eastern Europe have been well secured and guaranteed at the peace table, but literally millions will never survive the present disastrous times to enjoy these vast benefits unless America responds with the funds needed to tide them over the crisis now upon them.

"American Jews can count upon their many friends to aid in this humanitarian work, but the Jews must take the lead in the herculean task. Staple foods, clothing, medicines and other basic supplies, all of which are practically unobtainable in much of Eastern Europe, must be shipped in quantities from this side. Given this simple aid for a few months, Jewry in Europe will be able to rehabilitate itself quickly. But delay will prove fatal. American Jews were not slackers during the war. There must be no slackers in the battle for the lives of millions of our brothers abroad."

American Gets Results With Army Athletes at Inter-Allied Games.

PARIS, July 12.—That the French track and field team which took part in the Inter-Allied games at the Pershing stadium was trained by an American is a fact which caused no little dissatisfaction among the French athletic directors and resulted in considerable open criticism in the French press of Lieutenant Colonel See, of the French army, who is in charge of athletics for the police. However, the colonel was obstinate and said to the American, Louis G. Schroeder of the Y. M. C. A., "You are trainer-in-chief of the French army track and field team with absolute charge," and the colonel stuck to it. (The French team won seven places in the finals, winning the Modified Marathon and taking two second places and four thirds.)

Colonel See pointed out to his French colleagues that the French athletes never had been able to do anything in the Olympic games, and it was time an effort was made to adopt the methods of the Americans who had been clearing up in this line for a long time. Schroeder's work in training athletes for the pre-

She is also secretary of the juvenile court of Prague and is studying conditions here with a view to adopting some of the methods of our juvenile court administration to her problems.

Liminaries had been closely watched by Colonel See, and when it produced results in the trials for the French army championships, the colonel set out to get Schroeder for trainer of the champions to take part in the Inter-Allied games. Schroeder was a member of the athletic faculty of the "Y" training school at Springfield, Mass., before entering the work in the A. E. F.

STATE ADOPTS WEATHERPROOF SIGN FOR INDICATING DETOURS

Cardboard Markers to Be Replaced With Red and White Metal Plates.

LIST OF ALL DETOURS

Special to The Courier.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 4.—The State Highway Department today announced that the black and white cardboard signs used heretofore in marking detours on state highway routes are to be replaced with metal indicators within a few days. These new signs are a stagecoach red in color, with a large white arrow. They are visible at a great distance and the weather will not affect them. In many instances during the last month the rain and winds have destroyed the pasteboard signs, causing confusion to travelers. The state highway department in its efforts to make traveling as easy as possible despite the large number of detours necessary, has adopted the metal markers.

The State Highway Department today announced a list of detours existing in Pennsylvania. Announcement was also made of road sections which have been closed or otherwise surfaced during the last few days. The detour list is as follows:

Lincoln Highway
From Salvisa to Harrisburg, Fulton county; from Chambersburg to Fayetteville, Franklin county, and from Berwick to Farmers, York county.

National Pike
No detours.

William Penn Highway
(Travelers on this road are advised, east bound, to use the Lincoln highway to Greensburg; then crossing the William Penn highway to New Alexandria. Within two weeks a detour will be inaugurated on this road in Cambria county, which will necessitate the detouring of all traffic through Indiana and Saltsburg, to Pittsburgh.)

Detours are to be found between Ebensburg and Cresson; at Duncansville, Hollidaysburg, Lewisburg, Millersburg, between Clarks Ferry bridge and Harrisburg (from Clarks Ferry pass through Duncansville and Marysville to Harrisburg); near Stouffville, at Robinson, at Sinking Spring. On the New York extension of this road, a detour will be found southeast of Altoona.

Other detours in Pennsylvania by sections are:

Western Pennsylvania
From Ohio to New York—From Erie to the New York state line; from Erie to Ohio line.

Pittsburg to Erie through New Castle—Between New Castle and Beaver Falls; north and south of Meadville; south to Erie.

Erie to Pittsburgh through Butler, Franklin and Meadville—North of Allison park; north of Butler; north of Slippery Rock; north and south of Meadville; south of Erie.

From Erie to Ridgway—South of Erie; Corry to Warren; at Sheffield; between Johnsonburg and Ridgway. From Franklin to DuBois—West of Brookville.

From Butler to Indiana—West of Kittanning.

From Pittsburgh to West Virginia line—From Bridgeville to Canonsburg; Greensburg to Waynesburg; Madison to West Newton; southwest of Jefferson.

From Greensburg to Kittanning—Between Westier and North Washington.

Central Pennsylvania, North
From Bradford to Towanda—South of Bradford; west of Coudersport; east and west of Wellsboro.

From Ridgway to Williamsport—In Ridgway; between Ridgway and St. Marys; southwest of Emporium; east of Renova; east of Lock Haven.

From DuBois to Harrisburg—Runville to Milesburg; south of Bellefonte; north of Lewisburg; at Millersburg, from Clarks Ferry bridge to Harrisburg.

From Johnstown to Huntingdon, through Altoona—Between Johnstown and Ebensburg; between Ebensburg and Cresson; at Duncansville (turn left to Altoona); from Bellwood to Tyrone.

From Johnstown to Somerset—South of Jennertown, south of Spessville.

Eastern Pennsylvania
From Binghamton N. Y. to Philadelphia—Near New Milford; south of Scranton; south of Bangor.

From Honesdale to Port Jervis—South of Honesdale, and from Milford to Port Jervis.

Other detours in eastern Pennsylvania will be found between Sunbury and Shamokin; between Conyngham and Hazleton; between Nesquehanna and Wilkes-Barre; south of Hanburg, Berks county; near Orwigsburg, Schuylkill county; at the Lancaster end of the Harrisburg-Lancaster pike; between Chelsea and Chester; between the Lincoln highway and West Chester; between South Bethlehem and Nazareth.

A great many inquiries are being received by the State Highway Department concerning the road between Gettysburg and Harrisburg. To avoid the three detours on this road, travelers from Gettysburg may go via Dondersville, Mount Holly Springs and Carlisle to Harrisburg.

VEGETABLE CROPS GOOD

But Fruits Are Light, State Bureau Declares.

Special to The Courier.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 4.—The Bureau of Markets of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture sends out the following forecast regarding the supplies of near-by fruits and vegetables for the present week:

After-war prices for every day necessities are proving to be higher than during the war thus making it essential for all to economize wherever possible. There is greater need than ever for housewives to utilize and conserve all locally grown products when they are in season.

The abundance of rain reported from all but northwestern sections of Pennsylvania has been helpful to most vegetable crops but not to the fruits and berries.

Cabbage, beets, cucumbers, onions, peppers and tomatoes are being marketed in sufficiently large quantities to be used for making pickled cabbage, pickles, pepper hash, chow chow and other relishes. A light movement of lima beans, eggplants and parsnips is reported in southeastern sections. Sweet corn and string beans both promise to be in good supply this week.

Blackberries and buckberries continue to be plentiful particularly in the western and northern part of the state. Most of the peaches now available are good flavored but are clings and not so suitable for canning as the later varieties. A few near-by cantaloupes will be found on Philadelphia and surrounding markets.

Buick Five-Passenger Touring Car

THE BUICK Model K-Six-45 is a very capable open car for five persons, designed to cover the multitude of uses to which such a car is put. It differs from the big seven-passenger model only in tonneau and chassis length, possessing the same degree of ruggedness, easy-flowing power and mechanical excellence.

The tonneau is even more liberally proportioned. The seat is full three-passenger capacity, set at a comfortable angle. The sides are upholstered clear to the doors with the same French pleated leather used on the cushions and seat backs. Each of the four doors is equipped with a side pocket for storing small parcels. The instrument board is illuminated by a dash lamp. Top and side curtains are made of high grade fabric, the curtains swinging open with the doors. Behind the front seat is a very convenient pocket for storing the side curtains when not in use.

PRESBYTERIAN CONFERENCE ON NEW ERA CLOSES

Middle Western States Will Meet Again at Winona Lake, Indiana, in September.

DR. TAYLOR'S ADDRESS

Conference Sermon Sunday Preached by Rochester Minister on "Spiritual Detachment." Dr. Foulkes on "Lesser and Larger Loyalties."

STONY BROOK, N. Y., Aug. 4.— Delegates who have been attending the Presbyterian New Era conference here the past week left today to convey to the Presbyterian churches throughout the country the plans for a nation-wide campaign of social service and evangelism, after a Sunday-night communion service at which laymen and ministers united in a service consecrating them to the New Era five-year program.

It was voted to summon local delegates from the presbyteries of the middle western states to a New Era conference at Winona Lake, Ind., September 1 to 4 to map out the western campaign.

Rev. William R. Taylor, D. D. of Rochester, N. Y., delivered the conference sermon; Sunday, on the subject "Spiritual Detachment" from the text "But he would not go in." Luke 15:28. Dr. Taylor said in part:

"Side by side with his social instinct, which is so fundamental and so powerful, there is in every man a strong tendency toward personal detachment. Man's orbit, like the orbit of a star, is the resultant of both centripetal and centrifugal forces.
His tendency toward detachment is due to various causes. It may come from natural reserve, shyness, self-consciousness and self-depreciation, or from churlishness, selfishness, jealousy, suspicion, anger, prejudice. It shows itself in every sphere of human life from the family to the nation and the world.

"It is one of the great evils which it is the object of redemption to remove. There is a circle of the soul which is essential and unavoidable.
It is a result of the completeness of our individuality. It is a consequence of our being made in the image of God. How heavily it bears upon us at times, when the great crises of life are upon us, in the struggle for mortal victory, in the sometimes long-drawn-out periods of weariness and discouragement, in the paths of sorrow, when we descend into the valley of the shadow. But it is the clear wish and purpose of God that these lowly souls of ours should be joined as completely as may be in love and sympathy.

"For the evil of soul-detachment, so far as it is voluntary, is something far more serious than the pain of loneliness. Voluntary detachment is both the root and fruit of sin. Take any sin you please. It is the result of detachment, detachment from God and from the souls of our brethren.

"Could Jacob ever have deceived his poor old blind father and filched the birthright from his brother if he had not first been detached in heart from both? Could Judas ever have betrayed Christ if he had not first been detached from Him in spirit? And once the sin is committed, how much more complete is the detachment, how much more distant the removal! It is the breaking of sympathy, the limiting of interest, the setting up of the soul in the isolation of the outlaw.

"It is this personal detachment which is responsible for all the great evils of our time and of all time, for the oppression of the poor, for the neglect of the wife and the obscure, for class hatred and strife, and for war.

"The elder brother in the parable in refusing to go in, thought to show his disapproval of his father's action.
He had no sympathy with prodigals, even when they were penitent. He would not add to the success of the occasion by being seen at the family feast. He hurt his father. He hurt his erring but forgiving brother. He doubtless did cast a shadow over the feast, for there must have been those there who cared for him and wanted him with them. But most of all he hurt himself.

"The prophet Ezekiel, in telling us about the beginning of his ministry to the people, after receiving from God his literally terrible commission to the captives that dwell by the river of Chebar, says 'I sat where they sat, and remained there astonished among them seven days.'

"I sat where they sat. Is not the church's secret of conquest revealed here?"

Dr. William Hiram Foulkes, general secretary of the Presbyterian New Era movement, made the closing address of the conference on "Lesser and Larger Loyalties." He said that the greatest loyalty that was possible was necessary to a mighty cause like the New Era program for christianizing the nation. Loyalty, he said, was like love, any lesser degree would defeat the largest. It was the duty of fellow-Christians to lift their eyes to the loyalty of other people.
If a part of the church were less loyal to the cause of Christ than those most loyal, then the church would fail of its mission.

STATE APPLE CROP SLUMPS

Weather Cause for a Decrease of Nearly 1,000,000 Bushels.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 4.—The apple crop of Pennsylvania, which was estimated at 13,000,000 bushels for 1918, is declared by the statisticians of the State Department of Agriculture to have dropped to 12,000,000 for 1919 owing to weather conditions. The reports obtained by the Bureau of Statistics from its crop reporters indicate a great variation in prospects.

In many cases there was a heavy drop of apples in June, due to the cold weather in April, which prevented fertilization, cold rains and other adverse conditions.

Based on a normal crop the prospects are given as follows:—Adams county, 80 per cent; York, 81; Bucks, 82; Lancaster, 85; Cumberland, 81.

CALCULATING HOW LATE CONTRACTS FOR COKE WILL WORK OUT

With Iron at $25.75, Valley, Coke on 6 1/4 to One Basis Becomes $4.12.

COAL MAY LEAD ADVANCE

Instead of Late Behind Pig Iron; In That Case Spot Furnace Coke May Go to $6.50 Before End of Year; Old Operators Pick Wrong Horse!

After every period of contracting for Connellsville coke, the furnace and coke operators engage in the interesting pastime of observing how the contracts work out. Sometimes the furnace and they got the best end of the bargain, sometimes the coke operators, opines the American Metal Market.

Contracts for Connellsville furnace coke for the second half of the year were made largely on a ratio basis. The invoice price of the coke to be determined monthly at one to six against basic pig iron at Valley, Conn. Thus when, as at present, basic pig iron, Valley, is $25.75, the invoice price of the coke is $4.12, while each change of 25 cents in pig iron makes a change of four cents in coke. Fully half the total volume of business was done on this basis, the pace having been set by the Oliver & Snyder Steel company, a new seller in the merchant field. A little tonnage of coke is understood to have been sold to eastern furnaces, to be adjusted to the furnace price of pig iron. Then there was a moderate tonnage of coke sold at flat prices, including the following: $4.25 flat for the half year; $4.00 for July, $4.40 for the remaining five months, or $4.33 1-3 average; $4.50 flat for the half year.

When the ratio contracts were made there was a little room for speculation that perhaps the blast furnaces were getting the best in the transaction. Apparently the coke operators expected pig iron to advance, in which case they would get more for their coke, but the blast furnaces probably felt that pig iron was rather a sluggish commodity and while it might be marked for a large advance eventually it would hardly

The coke operators seem to have felt much more bullish on the pig iron market than they did on the coal market, and it rather looks now as if they would find they had picked the wrong horse. Pig iron may advance, but coal is much more likely to do so, and if both advance it is practically certain that coal will advance more than pig iron.

It is not at all improbable that the price of Connellsville coke for the remainder of the year and perhaps for quite a long time, can be computed by the following formula:

Coal price multiplied by 1 1/2 plus 50 cents equals coke price.

It requires one and one-half tons of coal to make a ton of coke. The actual cost of conversion, not counting fixed charges, ranges from 50 cents at the low cost operations to 75 cents at the high cost operations. As there is not going to be coke demand sufficient to engage all the works, presumably only the lower cost works will operate. The formula works out the price precisely at the present time. Connellsville coal is readily bringing $2.35, one and a half times which is $3.52 1/2. The spot furnace coke market is quotable at $4.00, as already noted, while the settling price on 6 1/4 to one ratio contracts is $4.12.

As to the prospects for coal advancing, these prospects are very favorable. The coal situation is well understood, except by those who adhere to the erroneous notion that the coal operators, in preaching impending shortage, have merely been trying to bolster their market. It is very probable that there will be a scarcity of coal, due to heavy consumption at home, large export demand, and inability to mine and ship a full tonnage. It is easily conceivable that large quantities of Connellsville coal will be salable at $4.50 before the end of the year if the coal can be produced and shipped. That, according to formula, would mean $6.50 coke. On the ratio basis the same price would mean pig iron at $4.33, which obviously is quite improbable for any time this year, while in addition it is probable that many if not all coke contracts have a limit below $6.50.

Two Factories Making Desserts for Hotel's Pie-eating Guests

It is the only hotel in the world that keeps two factories working seven days a week turning out desserts for its guests.

When the Hotel Hohenzollern, at Newfield, Germany, became Uncle Sam's Hotel and Theatre, a revolution also took place in the kitchen. "Apfel Strudel" became apple pie, and kummel took a back seat for ice cream. The army provides the more substantial eatables for the boys, but as soon as Newfield became a leave center, the men from the whole Third Army Corps, comprising the 1st, 2nd and 32nd Divisions, began swarming into town by the thousand lots, and there was such a run on desserts at Uncle Sam's Hotel that there never was enough.

Appeared, then, on the scene the Y. M. C. A. Back of the hotel is a bakery. The "Y" took this over and turned it into a pie plant. Next door to the pie plant is another building which the "Y" leased and transformed into an ice cream factory. Ice cream and pie makers were installed in the two buildings, and soon Uncle Sam's was the mecca for every pie-and-ice-cream eating doughboy in the Third Army Corps—which is just the same as saying the Third Army Corps. The "Y" followed this up by installing a theatre which provides the boys with movies and shows in the evenings.

"The Desserts that Made Newfield Famous" are a "Y" enterprise that is paying big dividends in contentment for the boys who are compelled to remain overseas far away from friends and home.

THE ARCADE.

"SPIRIT OF SEVILLE."—I spent the night with an American gentleman. This was the innocent answer of Carmelita Delgado, a beautiful girl of the Castilian mountains, when the man that she had promised to marry went to the Fiesta of Roses at Seville, expecting to find his bride, and was unsuccessful in his search. Carmelita promised to marry her father's outlaw lieutenant in order to save Leonardo, another suitor. She went into the mountains to forget the unpleasant promise, although she meant to keep her word. There a terrific storm overtook her, and she was forced to seek refuge in a cabin occupied by Kent Staunton, an American artist. Carmelita's simple explanation that she had spent the night with an American brought down upon Kent's head the unrestrained fury of the outlaw band. Hedda Nova, the Russian actress, depicts the role of Carmelita in "The Spirit of Seville." The Universal photodrama, which is showing at the Arcade today.

ANOTHER INQUIRY INTO COAL SITUATION ASKED IN CONGRESS

Demand is Made to Reveal the Origin of the "Buy Early Propaganda."

DECREASED PRODUCTION

And Cause of High Prices, Danger of a Shortage and the Possibility of a "Combination" in the Trade Some of the Nations to be Investigated.

Following close upon the introduction in the Senate of a resolution authorizing a sweeping investigation of the coal industry, still another is introduced in a resolution introduced in the House by Representative Huddleston, author of a bill providing for rigid governmental control and supervision of the bituminous branch of coal mining. Without waiting for action on this bill Representative Huddleston has asked for the appointment of a committee to investigate and report virtually all the ramifications of the fuel situation. The resolution, which has been referred to the House Rules Committee, is as follows:

"Whereas there has been a great decrease in the production of coal in the United States for the elapsed part of the current year as compared with the same portion of last year; and

"Whereas there has been a lowering of the cost of production of coal since November 11, 1913, for prices are being maintained generally throughout the United States at the maximum prices fixed by the Fuel Administration; and in some sections prices have been increased beyond such maximum prices; and

"Whereas an organized propaganda is being carried on with the obvious purpose of 'frightening' consumers into the purchase of coal at present prices under the threat of a coal shortage and higher prices, such propaganda including representations of a shortage in labor, shortage in transportation facilities, and increased cost of production; therefore be it

"Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives be, and he is hereby, directed and empowered to appoint a committee of five Representatives in Congress, which committee shall be charged with the duty to ascertain and report:

"First. The origin, methods, and financing of the propaganda herein above referred to.

"Second. The cause of the decrease in production of bituminous and anthracite coal in the United States during the present year and what may be done to remedy said situation, and whether such decrease in production is due in any measure to combinations among operators, controllers, or owners of coal mines or sales agents or dealers in coal, and whether coal prices limiting legislation should be adopted.

"Third. The cause of the high prices being charged for coal, whether the same are justifiable, and to what extent, if any, such prices are affected by agreements or combinations among owners, controllers, or operators of coal mines or sales agents or dealers in coal, and whether coal prices limiting legislation should be adopted.

"Fourth. Whether there is danger of a shortage in coal and what may be done to avert same.

"Fifth. Whether there is a combination or agreement, express or tacit, among owners, controllers, or operators of coal mines or sales agents or dealers in coal which affects the production, transportation, distribution, sale, or prices thereof."

GERMANY IN STEEL MARKET.

Is Already Capturing Business at Prices England Cannot Meet.

Germany has begun taking steel business in neutral markets at prices which England cannot consider, and Belgium is offering bars, plates and sheets at Antwerp, though probably not in very large amounts, equal to and in some cases a little below British seaboard prices.

Luxemburg plants expect to be in full blast in two months, marketing through Antwerp.

Brain Mottled.

Roger W. Babson of the department of labor said at a dinner in Washington:

"Speaking of labor, it has been a tough job to eat some of the health foods that were turned out during the war."

"A young lady said to a young man at a Washington dance:

"Are you the same young man who ate so many of my bean muffins at the Red Cross last fall?"

"No," he answered, "and what's more, the doctor says I never will be."

The Sign on the Church.

Many a pedestrian and motorist looked, observed and smiled Wednesday night as he passed a church on Clinton hill. Obvious and elaborate preparations for a wedding were under way. Coaches and florist wagons were bustling. The unmistakable canopy was being erected from sidewalk to door. And in big letters on the front of the church was blazoned the minister's subject for an approaching service: "This is the Life."—Newark News.

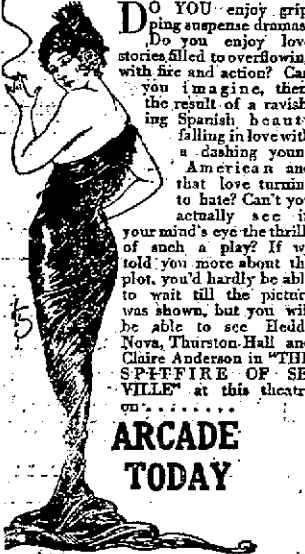

Spilled Her Pleasure.

Husband—Have you had a pleasant afternoon?

Wife—No; Mrs. Wilkinson and Mrs. Jenkinson came together and left together. I had a lot of things about Mrs. Wilkinson I wanted to tell Mrs. Jenkinson, and I had a lot of things to tell Mrs. Wilkinson, but, of course, when they were both together it was no use.

The Magnificent Ambersons

BOOTH TARKINGTON

COPYRIGHT BY DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & COMPANY

Major Amberson remained dry-eyed through the time that followed; he knew that this separation from his daughter would be short; that the separation which had preceded it was the long one. He worked at his ledger no more under his old gas drop-light, but would sit all evening staring into the fire, in his bedroom, and not speaking unless some one asked him a question. He seemed almost unaware of what went on around him, and those who were with him thought him dazed by Isabel's death, guessing that he was lost in reminiscences and vague dreams. "Probably his mind is full of pictures of his youth, or the Civil war, and the days when he and mother were young married people and all of us children were jolly little things—and the city was a small town with one cobbled street and the others just dirt roads with board sidewalks." This was George Amberson's conjecture, and the others agreed; but they were mistaken. The Major was engaged in the profoundest thinking of his life. No business plans which had ever absorbed him could compare in momentousness with the plans that absorbed him now, for he had to plan how to enter the unknown country where he was not even sure of being recognized as an Amberson—not sure of anything, except that Isabel would help him if she could. The Major was occupied with the first really important matter that had taken his attention since he came home invalided, after the Gettysburg campaign, and went into business, and he realized that everything which had worried him or delighted him during this lifetime between then and today—all his buying and building and trading and banking—that it all was trifling and waste beside what concerned him now.

Meanwhile, the life of the little boy George still fondly centripetal upon his home to pick up again, his life will, and to emerge from its own period of dazedness. It was not Isabel's father but her son who was really dead.

A month after her death he walked abruptly into Fanny's room, one night, and found her at her desk, eagerly adding columns of figures with which she had covered several sheets of paper.

"George! You startled me!"

"I beg your pardon for not knocking," he said humbly. "I didn't think."

She turned in her chair and looked at him solicitously. "Sit down, George, won't you?"

"No, I just wanted—"

"I could hear you walking up and down in your room," said Fanny. "You were doing it ever since dinner, and it seems to me you're at it at almost every evening. I don't believe it's good for you—and I know it would worry your mother terribly if she knew." Fanny hesitated.

"See here," George said, breathing fast, "I want to tell you once more that what I did was right. How could I have done anything else but what I did do?"

"Oh, I don't pretend to judge," Fanny said soothingly, for his voice and gesture both partook of wildness. "I know you think you did, George."

"Think I did?" he echoed violently. "My God in heaven! And he began to walk up and down the floor. "What else was there to do? What choice did I have? Was there any other way of stopping the talk?" He stopped, close in front of her, gasping, his voice harsh and loud.

"Was there any other way on earth of protecting her from the talk?"

Miss Fanny looked away. "I died down before long, I think," she said nervously.

"I Did the Right Thing, I Tell You."

"That shows I was right, doesn't it?" he cried. "If I hadn't acted as I did that wandering old Johnson woman would have kept on with her slanders—she'd still be—"

"No," Fanny interrupted. "She's dead. She dropped dead with a poppley one day about six weeks after you left. I didn't mention it in my letters because I didn't want—I thought—"

"Well, the other people would have kept on, then. They'd have—"

"I don't know," said Fanny, still averting her troubled eyes. "Things are so changed here, George. The other people you speak of—one hardly knows what's become of them. Of course not a great many were doing the talking, and they—well, some of them are dead, and some might as well be—you never see them any more—and the rest, whoever they were, are probably so mixed in with the crowds of new people that seem never even to have heard of us—and I'm sure we certainly never heard of them—and people seem to forget things so soon—they seem to forget anything. You can't imagine how things have changed here!"

George gulped painfully before he could speak. "You—you mean to sit there and tell me that if I'd just let things go—Oh!" He swung away, walking the floor again. "I tell you I did the only right thing! You think I was wrong!"

"I'm not saying so," she said.

"You did at the time!" he cried.

"You said enough then, I think. Well, what have you to say now, if you're so sure I was wrong?"

"Nothing, George."

"It's only because you're afraid to!" he said, and he went on with a sudden bitter divination. "You're reproaching yourself with what you had to do with all that; and you're trying to make up for it by doing and saying what you think mother would want you to, and you think I couldn't stand it if I got to thinking I might have done differently. Oh, I know! That's exactly what's in your mind: you do think I was wrong! So does Uncle George. I challenged him about it the other day, and he answered just as you're answering—evaded, and tried to be gentle. I don't care to be handled with gloves! I tell you I was right, and I don't need any coddling by people that think I wasn't! And I suppose you believe I was wrong not to let Morgan see her that last night when he came here, and she—she was dying. If you do, why in the name of God did you come and ask me? You could have taken him in! She did want to see him. She—"

Miss Fanny looked startled. "You think—"

"She told me so!" And the tortured young man choked. "She said—'Just once.' She said 'I'd like to have seen him—just once!' She meant—to tell him 'good-bye'! That's what she meant! And you put this on me, too! You put this responsibility on me! But I tell you, and I told Uncle George, that the responsibility isn't all mine! If you were so sure I was wrong all the time—when I took her away, and when I turned Morgan out—if you were so sure, what did you let me do it for? You and Uncle George were grown people, both of you, weren't you? You were older than I, and if you were so sure you were wiser than I, why did you just stand around with your hands hanging down and let me go ahead? You could have stopped it if it was wrong, couldn't you?"

Fanny shook her head. "No, George," she said slowly. "Nobody could have stopped you. You were too strong, and—"

"And what?" he demanded loudly.

"And she loved you—too well."

George stared at her hard, then his lower lip began to quiver convulsively, and he set his teeth upon it but could not check his frantic twitching.

He ran out of the room.

She sat still, listening. He had plunged into his mother's room, but no sound came to Fanny's ears after the sharp closing of the door; and presently she rose and stepped out into the hall—but could hear nothing. What later-lev was sealed away from human eye and ear within the lonely darkness on the other side of that door—in that darkness where Isabel's own special chairs were, and her own special books, and the two great walnut wardrobes filled with her dresses and wraps? What tragic argument might be there vainly striving to confuse the gentle dead? "In God's name, what else could I have done?" For his mother's immutable silence was surely answering him as Isabel in life would never have answered him, and he was beginning to understand how eloquent the dead can be. They can not stop their eloquence no matter how they have loved the living, they cannot choose. And so, no matter in what agony George should cry out, "What else could I have done?" and to the end of his life no matter how often he made that wild appeal, Isabel was doomed to answer him with the wisest, faint murmur.

"I'd like to have—seen him. Just once."

A superstitious person might have thought it unfortunate that Fanny's partner in speculative Johns try as in Wilbur's disastrous rolling-mills, was that charming but too hazardous man of the world, George Amberson. He was one of those optimists who believe that if you put money into a great many enterprises one of them is sure to turn out a fortune, and therefore, in order to find the lucky one, it is only necessary to go into a large enough number of them.

"You ought to have thought of my record and stayed out," he told Fanny, one day the next spring, when the affairs of the headlight company had begun to look discouraging. Things do look bleak, and I'm only glad you didn't go into this confounded thing to the extent I did."

Miss Fanny grew pink. "But it must go right!" she protested. "We saw with our own eyes how perfectly it worked out in the shop. It simply—"

"Oh, you're right about that," Amberson said. "It certainly was a perfect thing—in the shop!"

"But think of that test on the road when we—"

"That test was lovely," he admitted. "The inventor made us happy with his oratory, and you and Frank Bronson and I went whirling through the night at a speed that thrilled us. We must never forget it—and we never shall. It cost—"

"But something must be done."

"It must indeed! My something would seem to be letting my watch at my uncle's. Look, Mr. you—"

The pink of Fanny's cheeks became deeper. "But isn't that man going to do anything to remedy it? Can't he try to—"

"He can try," said Amberson. "He is trying, in fact. I've sat in the shop watching him try for several beautiful afternoons."

"But you must make him keep on trying!"

"Oh, yes, I'll keep sitting!"

However, in spite of the time he spent sitting in the shop, worrying the inventor of the fractious light, Amberson found opportunity to worry himself about another matter of business. This was the settlement of Isabel's estate.

"The deed to the house was never recorded," Amberson said thoughtfully.

"I've been over to the courthouse to see I think it would be just as well to get him to execute one now in your favor. I'll speak to him about it."

George sighed. "I don't think I'd bother him about it; the house is mine, and you and I understand that it is. That's enough for me, and there isn't likely to be much trouble between you and me when we come to settling poor grandfather's estate. He's just been with him and I think it would only confuse him for you to speak to him about it again. I notice he seems depressed if anybody tries to get his attention—he's a long way off, some where, and he likes to stay that way. I think—I think mother wouldn't want us to bother him about it; I'm sure she'd tell us to let him alone. He looks so white and queer."

Amberson shook his head. "I won't bother him any more than I can help; but I'll have the deed made out ready for his signature."

"I wouldn't bother him at all. I don't see—"

"You might see," said his uncle unthinkingly. "The estate is just about as involved and mixed up as an estate can well get, to the best of my knowledge. You ought to have that deed."

"No, don't bother him."

"I'll bother him as little as possible. I'll wait till some day when he seems to brighten up a little."

But Amberson waited too long. The Major had already taken eleven months since his daughter's death to think important things out. One evening his grandson sat with him—the Major seemed to like best to have young George with him, so far as they were able to guess his preferences—and the old gentleman made a queer gesture; he slipped his knee as if he had made a sudden discovery, or else remembered that he had forgotten something.

George looked at him with an air of inquiry, but said nothing. He had grown to be almost as silent as his grandfather. However, the Major spoke without being questioned.

DOCTOR ADVISED LITTLE INVALID TAKE NERV-WORTH

The Trouble Began When Eight-Year-Old Boy Fell and Crushed Arm.

Parents of small sufferers from nervous distresses will do well to weigh this clear proof of Nerv-Worth's remarkable power. It was given very recently by Mrs. L. E. Clifton of Zanesville, O., to her druggist.

Foggy Drug Store—My little eight-year-old son fell from an apple tree and his left arm was badly crushed. The shock was severe and left him in a very nervous condition and his appetite was poor. The attending doctor advised me to give him Nerv-Worth and I noticed an improvement from the start. Now, after he has taken three bottles, his nervousness has entirely disappeared and his digestion is as good as new. Nerv-Worth is surely fine for nervous stomach troubles and I heartily recommend it.
